Items of Interest Gleaned from Our Exchanges

Obert Items in Wynot Tribune: W. C. Heikes and F. W. Butler each had a shipment of hogs at Sioux City Wednesday.

Tekamah Herald: Mrs. Ed Latt was in Sioux City, last Thursday to hear Galli Guci, and was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ed T. Kearney.

Ponca Journal: Postmaster Homer Davey and Assistant Postmaster A. H. Logan motored to Coburn Junction today (Thursday) and brought up the mail.

Walsh Citizen: Mrs. H. E. Taft was a passenger to Sioux City, Saturday evening. Mrs. J. H. Benson and daughter, Mrs. L. C. Clinkingbeard, visited in the home of Mrs. Kenison's mother, Mrs. N. J. Jurell, Thursday and Friday of last week.

Wakefield Republican: Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Feauto and W. S. McEasters spent Sunday with relatives in Emerson. Word comes from Camp Funston that Howard Shumway has been recommended for promotion to captain. Mrs. Ray Larson and daughter, Leverage, came down Saturday and spent Sunday with relatives and friends.

Emerson Enterprise: Geo. H. Haase went to O'Neill, Neb., Monday evening, to attend a bankers' convention. Mr. and Mrs. M. McEntaffer expect to leave on June 11 for DeKalb county, Ind., to attend a family reunion of Mrs. McEntaffer's people. Mr. and Mrs. M. McEntaffer went to Carroll, Neb., Saturday, to visit at the home of their two daughters, Mrs. Geo. Hulekamp and Mrs. A. King.

Pender Republic: Mrs. J. J. Lynch was in Lincoln several days the past week visiting friends. She was met in Omaha on Monday by her husband, who went down to see their son Bernard, who will in all probability soon go to France. Editor R. J. Taylor, Supt. O. L. Babeok and Wm. Vogt, Jr., were here Saturday as representatives from Winnebago to the county-wide Fourth of July meeting. Mr. Taylor is slowly recovering from an attack of asthma which came near incapacitating him from journalistic work.

Allen News: Geo. E. Barnes, of Waterbury, spent Sunday in Allen, at the home of his son, John Barnes. Mr. and Mrs. Ross and family, of near Dixon, spent Sunday at the Wm. Twamley home. Mrs. C. E. Taylor, of York, Neb., came Saturday night and is visiting her sister, Miss Margaret Nordyke. Miss Margaret Robinson, of Long Pine, Neb., who has been visiting for several weeks at the Wm. Twamley home in Allen, left Monday for Orchard, Neb., to spend a week with her grandmother before going on to her home.

Sioux City Journal, 7: In response to the call for a company of home guards in South Sioux City, Neb., fifty-nine members joined yesterday. W. B. Gibbs was elected captain, Frank Hogan first lieutenant and John Bartlett second lieutenant. Another meeting will be held Monday night, and it is expected that the enthusiasm will be increased twice over. Lester Keith, the 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Keith, was drowned Wednesday afternoon in a cistern at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curry, in South Sioux City. The child's father is in France serving with the United States army and his mother has been making her home with her parents since Mr. Keith left for the front.

Sioux City Tribune, 8th: Mr. and Mrs. G. Madsen, of Dakota City, Neb., were recent visitors in the J. Leamer home. Approximately 400 tons of rails from the old South Sioux City, Crystal Lake and Homer Railway company, owned by the Riley Howard family, were sold yesterday to the Sioux City Terminal Railway company at $57.50 a ton. The rails when they were laid by the original company cost $28 a ton, the original investment costing about $11,200. Today, after 12 years of service, the rails have sold at double their value. About one-half mile of the line has already been torn up, and it is expected that it will be completely torn up to the point where it branches off to Crystal Lake in a few weeks. The other equipment of the road, such as the copper wire, poles, and ties have not been disposed of yet, but several bids have been received for them.

Lyons Mirror: Mrs. W. H. Mackey, of Jackson, Neb., visited her mother, Mrs. J. W. King, on the West Side, and the family of her brother, W. A. King. Supt. Clarence Linton, and wife, have moved from Dakota City to this place, where Supt. Linton will have charge of the Lyons schools the coming year. We welcome them to our midst. W. M. Speir, of Homer, has his new residence in the south part of Lyons about completed, where the family will make their home. Mrs. Speir is a daughter of the late William Holsworth, of Homer, one of the earliest pioneer settlers of Dakota county. We are pleased to welcome them to our midst. H. M. Tollinger did the carpenter work on the building. We failed to state last week that John Ream and son and daughter were callers at this office last week. Mr. Ream is the editor of the Dakota City Herald and a son of the late Henry Ream, one of the very first settlers of Nebraska, crossing the Missouri river to what is now Dakota county, May 15, 1865, and history tells us that he was the only solitary white man on the soil of northern Nebraska that day.

Sioux City Tribune, 6: Lester Keith, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Keith, was drowned yesterday afternoon in a cistern in the back yard of his grandparents' home, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curry, of South Sioux City. The baby had been playing alone in the yard. It was not discovered that he had been drowned in the cistern until some time after he had been missed by his mother. When found his body was floating on the water. His father is a soldier in the United States army and is now serving with the colors "somewhere in France." His wife has been making her home with her parents while her husband is in France. Sam Bridenbaugh, of Dakota City, Neb., an extensive land owner and progressive farmer and feeder, was on today's trade with a car load of fed yearlings that were good enough to sell at $16.00, extreme top price for the day for this class of cattle. The 18 head averaged 820 pounds and were some of Mr. Bridenbaugh's own raising and feeding. He usually feeds a load of yearlings out of his big herd of Herefords and topping the market has become an annual occurrence for him. While he feeds grade Herefords out of his own herd, he believes in also feeding cheap cattle as he stated that these make the biggest profit as the spread in price between the right good ones and the commoner types permits a larger profit on these kinds.

Sioux City Journal, 8th: Examination of all men who were classified for either limited military service or disqualified for active service took place yesterday in Dakota county, Neb. The medical advisory board of the district made the examination. It is probable that some of the men will be advanced from their present class, it is said. Eleven persons Thursday night were arrested when Chief of Police Henry Crane, of South Sioux City, raided a dance hall in the north end of town operated by Mrs. Rosa Masie. Mrs. Masie pleaded guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace when taken before the police judge and was fined $10, the other being dismissed. The dance hall operated by Mrs. Masie was ordered closed about two weeks ago by the South Sioux City council. Neighbors living near the hall presented a petition asking that the building be closed. According to the petition, the dances continued all night and no one in the neighborhood could sleep. When the place was ordered closed Mrs. Masie asked permission to hold a dance. This was denied her. She went ahead and held the dance. Chief Crane was notified and went to the place, arresting the entire party. Those arrested besides Mrs. Masie gave their names as Fritz Schaffer, Jesse Henrick, Mary Blair, James Ross, Miss Pearl Martin, Julia Martin, Lyde Leann, William Roberts, Edward Farris and Morris Hollinsworth. They were given their freedom on their promise not to attend any more dances. Charges of "high finance" operations, including freezing out of stockholders and wholesale watering of stock, were made yesterday against the Combination Bridge company by Ward R. Evans, attorney for South Sioux City, who completed his arguments in behalf of reduction of tolls. The argument will be sent to Col. Willard Young, at Kansas City, Mo., who has been designated by the government to investigate the controversy. The effort to obtain lower toll charges was begun in 1917 by residents of South Sioux City and Sioux City. The evidence needed by both sides has now been presented, and Mr. Evans' argument will probably be one of the last papers to be filed before Col. Young makes his final recommendation to the war department. Mr. Evans sets forth that the actual value of the bridge is less than $300,000. The company has been making enormous profits, which the officials have attempted to conceal by claiming an unreasonable high valuation and issuing blocks of watered stock, the attorney asserts. In estimating reasonable tolls, Mr. Evans would allow the bridge company to charge enough to make 10 per cent profit on the investment. The company earned 18 1/2 per cent in 1917, on a valuation of $300,000, according to Mr. Evans. He believes the profits in 1918 will be at least 20 per cent. The receipts are constantly increasing, he states, because of the rapid growth of Sioux City, the development of the adjacent country, and other important factors. With an income of 10 per cent, says the lawyer, the corporation could pay 5 per cent interest on $300,000 worth of bonds, create a 3 per cent sinking fund, and have sufficient remaining to pay good dividends on the watered stock. Mr. Evans asks that automobile tolls be reduced from 20 cents to 15 cents. The rate for teams should be cut in two, he urges. Commutation books with 1 cent coupons should be sold, he believes. Other tolls can stand as they are without objection.
